CLINIC OBJECTIVE: Learn to recognize and interpret what your horse is saying and how to use his/her own language to respond.

Workshop with Sharon Wilsie of Wilsie Way Horsemanship, and author of the book, Horse Speak, the Equine-Human Translation Guide and Horses in Translation.

This workshop is not just wonderful for horse owners, but for anybody with a love of horses, with a desire to understand them better and to learn a way to communicate with them. Horses communicate with their bodies. Every movement—each twitch of the skin, flare of the nostril, flicker of the eye, swish of the tail is a gesture laden with meaning. For the most part, we miss, disregard, or misinterpret these signals, which inevitably leads to confusion on the horse's part and frustration on ours. But all this can change now. In this clinic you will learn how to "hear" what horses are really saying, and "talk back" in a language they can understand. Giving you a wonderful opportunity to bond and connect on a deeper level.

"Horses communicate with us all the time, in ways so subtle we don't notice".

Every twitch, lean, ear flicker, or look is an answer to your question". ~Sharon Wilsie

Topics will include:

- • How to say Hello to your Horse
- • Boundaries & Bonding
- • The 13 Buttons of Horse Speak
- • How to Lead with Your Feet
